ENGINE FEATURES

9. Another important feature is the water temperature thermostat. It stops the circulation of water until the engine has attained the proper temperature for. best operation. As a result the choke control button can be pushed in shortly after the engine is started—thus minimizing the possibility of oil dilution and also improving fuel economy.

It is envisaged in some quarters that there may be a reversal of policy with regard to the Government's rearmament programme, but this is still a matter for discussion as some difference of opinion among the Labourites is said to exist.—Reuter.

POLICE SPORTSMAN TRIBUTE BY THE I.G.P.

A pleasant function took place at the Police Recreation Club. Happy Valley, yesterday evening, when, presentations were made to Inspector C. F. Alexander, who is retiring from the Hangkong Police after 23 years

The presentations were made the Hon. Mr. T. H. King, Inspector General of Police before a large gathering of members of the Club. Among those present were Mr. W. R. Scott, D. S. Mr. T. H. King's Tribute

Mr. King said he was asked by Alexander will spend his retirement. next Olympia Exhibition to-day.—
Reuter Bulletin Service. Chief Inspector Shaftain, Chairman of the Police Club, to make the presentations to Inspector Alexander. and he accepted the privilege with great pleasure, as well as great regret, because he felt they were losing not only one of their most efficient police officers; but also one of the most popular members of the Club and a very good sportaman.

Inspector Alexander came out here In 1913 and he soon showed his appetite for work and his keenness for sports. Besides discharging his duties as a police officer, inspector Alexander was one of the first motor engine drivers for the Fire Brigade. vir. King recalled an exciting ride on one of these early fire-engines through Queen's Road, in which Inspector Alexander had taken part.

His next appearance was in the Police football team, and though he was more of a cricketer, Inspector Alexander was with the football team when they won the Shield. He took an intensely keen interest in cricket and had been the backbone of the Police cricket-team for a number of years. Mr. King said he had been associated with Inspector Alexander in cricket and he never wished to play with or against a better sportsman. (Applause).

"I think the highest tribute I can pay him is to say that I have yet to hear any man, either a member of this Club or anyone outside, say an unkind word about Inspector Alexander," sald Mr. King. He then re-ferred to Inspector Alexander's war service, and said that shortly after his return, he was appointed what one might call Minister for Transport in Hongkong. Both the Government and the public have borne tribute to Inspector Alexander's patience, courtesy, tact and zeal in the many difficult duties he was called upon to discharge in the traffic department. His efforts in that direction had been most successful, and he had proved to be a worthy successor to Mr. Kent.

The I. G. P. said he felt sure all present shared his regret that Inspector Alexander was going away, and he asked Inspector Alexander to convey to Mrs. Alexander and family, their very good wishes for happiness, health and prosperity in the Old Country.

Mr. King then presented inspector Alexander with a beautiful radio set with an inscription in silver reading, "Presented to Inspector C. F. Aleannder by the Members of the Police Recreation Club, Hongkong, on the occasion of his retirement, September, 1936." Another gift took the form of a batsman's wicket on the cricket field, made in silver, and set on a blackwood stand. The wicket was complete with bails, a bat resting against it, a ball and crease. The inscription read, "Presented to Alec by his team on his retirement, 1936." On the lest were his Club bowling records for the years 1020, 1027, 1029 and 1034. On the right were his Club balting averages for the years 1920-3, 1926, 1927 and 1930.

Continuing, Mr. King appealed to Inspector Alexander to get some more members of the Force interested in cricket during the short while he remained in the Colony. He then read some very amusing verses entitled the "Budding Crickeler," taken from the Manchester Guardian which aroused much laughter.

Mr. King then made a third presentation to Inspector Alexander, a cut glass rose bowl. In making the presentation, he said he felt sure Mrs. Alexander and family were included in the gift.

The I: G. P. then called on the gathering to rise and drink to the health of the retiring Inspector, which was done with musical honours, followed by three rousing cheers and a

Inspector Alexander's Reply

Inspector Alexander thanked Mr. King very much for his kind words, which he felt he did not deserve Regarding the question of football, it was true that the Police won the Shield in 1920. He hoped that next season the Police would win the Shield, for they had done better last year and the year before last than ever before.

The speaker said he had always been interested in cricket, and last year they had had a very successful season. He hoped Mr. King would help any police officer who happened to be on duty when he was down to play cricket, to allow him the opportunity to do so. Last year, the Police team finished second is the League.

Inspector Alexander concluded by thanking them all for their gifts, which he said he appreciated very much. (Applause).

Inspector Alexander leaves for England on the Chitral to-morrow, to join his wife and family. Mrs. Alexander and one son left in June, and there are two other sons at Reading, Berks., where Inspector

THESE FOLK CAN DANCE!

By A Staff Reporter

"That", said Mr. J. A. Andreic. brilliant interpreter of modern ballroom dancing, who, in company with Miss Pat Splees former world's champion, is opening a season at the Grupps. Hongkong Hotel on Saturday night, "is the rhythm dance, now all the crase in London.

"And that," I replied, "is the 'cut thuthin', 'Shanghat Rhythin' 'American Style', call it what you like, dancing, raised to the nth degree of artistry.

WHICH is by way of telling  Telegraph readers, including prospective patrons of Gripps next Saturday (and thereafter), that though they may have seen ballroom dancing of a pretty high standard in the past, they, "ain't" in the words of an anonymous poet, "seen nothing

Gripps looked pretty cool yesterday morning when I popped round to see Andrew and Miss Sykes tun-ing up for their Big Night. But after watching them whirl round the floor in a quick Rhythm dance, then a quick-step, then a brilliant (no other word suits it) waltz, I perspired just in sympathy.

But what grace! What perfection of movement! What alignment! What body sway! What contramovement! No wonder the London Daily News wrote of Miss Sykes . . Is one of the prettiest teachers of dancing I have met"; and no wonder Mr. J. A. Andrew was admitted a Fellow of the Imperial Socicty of Teachers of Dancing while in England a month or so ago,

AND WHAT A RECORD!

Miss Sykes is, of course, one of the most interesting personalities of the modern professional ballroom whom Hongkong has had the opportunity of welcoming. She, has a stupendous record of achievements. Here are a few which speak sufficiently for themselves without adornment from me. In 1924, 1925, 1926, 1928, 1929 and 1930 she and Maxwell Stewart thereafter be prohibited from using mentioned works scheduled for next were holders of the World's Dancing | wireless receiving apparatus for the | year, the total amount of loan money | Champlonship—the highest honour purpose of receiving press messages. required to meet expenditure will be which can fall to anyone in the profession of ballroom dancing. In 1930 ships at Baden-Baden, Germany, Nice and Lugano. In 1928 and 1931 they won the British Professional Championship at Queen's Hall and Blackpool, and in 1929, they achieved a remarkable trlumph in winning the "Star" new dance competition at the Albert Hall, London with their famous "Skater's Waltz".

Miss Sykes and Maxwell Stewar were originators of the "Sugar Step" (Blues) in 1928, and the "Kerb Step" (Fox-trot) the following year. In her spare time (!) Miss Sykes has had published a text book on ballroom dancing entitled "Modern Dancing" which has gone through many editions.

Thus for Miss Sykes' achievements. And the reasons. Well, one is her natural ability in the art of terpslehore, plus her charm on the dance floor which instantly puts her in delightful fellowship with her audience DANCED FOR PAVLOVA

TOTAL COST OF SHING MUN VALLEY WATER SCHEME WILL BE $13,000,000: AIRPORT COSTS $2,030,000

" Telegraph" Staff Correspondent

THE "Telegraph" understandes that there is every prospect that the Hongkong will issue a PENSION $11,000,000 Public Works Loan early next year.

Authority for the issue of this amount is already vested BILL IS in the Government under the Hongkong Dollar Loan Ordinance of 1934. The Loan will bear interest at the rate of 31/2 per cent. The price of issue will probably be fixed at 99 per cent, the bonds giving a flat yield of 3.535 per cent. or, allowing for redemption over a full period of 25 years, of 3.535 per cent.

The issue will probably be underwritten without expense to the Government, and it is also probable that the major portion of the. amount will be taken up without recourse to public subscription.

The bonds will be sin bearer form and, it is most likely, in amounts of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 with interest coupons attached... No sinking fund will be established, but amortization will be provided by annual drawings of 1/25th of the amount issued. The first drawing would normally take place in 1938, when bonds to the value of 1,25th of $11,000,000 would be repaid. It is intended record. that the whole of the issue will be paid off in 25 years.

Return Of Lawn Bowlers

HOW FIRST MATCH WAS LOST

FOUND GREENS DIFFICULT

The general impression gained in Hongkong that the Colony team should have won the first Interport lawn bowls match against Shanghai, and would have done but for sheer bad luck, was confirmed by A. Hyde-Lay, Hongkong's captain, when the Interporters returned here by the Chichibu Maru this morning.

"We had surprisingly bad luck in the best interport" said Hyde-Lay. "this being generally admitted. But for this bad joss we should have won the match."

Giving an example of how the fates were against them, Hyde-Lay referred to one head in which Hongkong were laying five. But a final drive by the Shanghai skip not only deprived the Colony of their five, but gave Shanghal the shot.

"In the second Interport", he said "we played a fair game, but I am convinced that no Colony team, however strong, could have withstood the Shanghal rink which played with amazing accuracy.

UP TO SCRATCH

"Throughout the visit the Colony players came up to scratch in the Interport encounters. Several friendly games were played, but in some of these the Hongkong men were slightly below standard."

"We found the greens difficult to become accustomed to as they were very fast. Personally, however, I prefer the Shanghai greens to those in Hongkong", concluded Hyde-Lay.

The players reported themselves very fit, and as having had a splendid time up north. As usual the hospitality of their Shanghal friends was well-nigh overwhelming. Generally speaking, although they were not complaining, they felt a little less bad luck would have seen them win the first Interport.

AUSTRALIA'S CRICKET HISTORY

WHEN THE MYTHICAL "ASHES" CAME INTO BEING

RECALLING A REMARKABLE TEST MATCH IN ENGLAND

ARTICLE X.

(By R. Abbit)

It would be tedious to go solemnly through the contests between Australia and England year by year. As I was dealing with the earliest days of the same I have so far given as much detail as possible and the story has now come down to the final land-mark. Already "Test" Matches have begun and Australia has beaten England at home. We now come to the great side of 1882 which first defeated a representative English side in England in the only Test played—the game which gave birth to the phrase "The Ashes."

and the Australians were handleaphad been bowling splendldly throughout the tour, was unable to play. I have already stated' that and it is obvious that to but first on the Oval wicket was a great advantage. Murdoch won the toss and the Australians proceeded to lose six wickets for 48 runs by lunch time.

Soon after 3 o'clock they were all out for 64 runs, although their batting was in no way up to its usual standard. Barlow did excellently to take five wickets for 10 runs in 36

THAT NIGHT IT RAINED-

That night it rained, and there is little doubt that that rain settled the fate of the match although it ought not to have done so. Barlow, who was playing in the game, recorded years afterwards that in his opinion the ground was unfit for play at 10 minutes past 12 when the game was actually resumed. It is very improbable, however, that the Umpires would have permitted this. What is certain is that the ground was soaked and slippery. The bowlers could hardly stand and the ball extremely hard to hold. There was only one game to play. And Massie played it magnificently. He put up 55 runs thrown away.

The Test Match was due to start

The improvement shown in the batting of the side in 1880 was well maintained and even though it was a bad summer and wickets were slow, they managed to get plenty of runs, and with wickets to help them Spofforth, Boyle, Garrett, Palmer, and Giffen were deadly. AN EYE-OPENER

Brown Bee (Mr. Dietz) after a ding-dong race' down the straight just managed to stave off the challenge of Wentworth (Mr. S. Y. Liang) by winning the main event, Chung Shan Stakes, for the popular chairman, Mr. G. H. Potts and both jockeys rode very hard.

A compliment was pai 'to the handleapper when all the entries accepted the Fatshan Handleap for class over a mile. Great Hall (Mr. Roza) made the running followed by Harvest View (Mr. Y. T. Fung) and these two ponies were racing neck and neck over the first half of the circuit. The first quarter of the route was covered in 29.3/5 seconds while the first half-a-mile was negotiated in one minute and two-fifths seconds. They' were labouring after this and the two ponies finished almost craseling passed the post. There was a grim battle between Monoplane, Bistre and the two soldiers, but the former unswered every call of the jockey and won by a length. The running of Monoplane was certainly an eye opener to all critics and this pony should be watched when he weighs out at the Valley. Soldier of China gave a very disappointing display and this was his first appearance in the "C" class

This print of 1820 shows children employed in a spinning mill. They were often strapped and beaten at their work.

Twould be difficult to overestimate the importance of the Births and Deaths Registration Act. The benefits that have flown from it. especially to the workers, are great. Well curiously enough, referances to it by historians and other writers on that period are few and hard to find.

It set up for the first time a State Department in London, preadded over by a Registrar-General whose duty it was to collect and keep exact records of these two major events in the lives of all citizens

The! Department is now situated at Sourcet House, a smokegrimed, Creary building in the Strand, not far from the Island churches of St. Mary, where the parents of Charles Dickens were married, and St. Clement Dane, where Mrs. Lirriper, "very partial to evening service not too erowded," rented a new with genteel company and her own has-the Act. It was passed because another measure, which at long last gave Dissenters the right to solemnise marriages in their own way (a right previously enjoyed only by Quakers and Jewm), left a page that required fining. Not until after it was passed did the common people realise the protection it gave them against untimely death.

Early death then was a commonplace. Life was cheap, particu-'arly among the children of the poor. The Act made every death a matter of public record and unexplained death the concern, possibly, of a coroner's jury.

Nor, until after it was put into operation, was it realised how useful it would be to reformers in their struggle on behalf of the factory children.

Robert Owen, father of British Socialism and a pioneer of Cooperation, speaks of children commonly employed at the age of five, sometimes at the age of three. "It took," says Spencer Walpole,

"twenty-five years to legislate to restrict a child of nine to 69 hours n week and that only in cotton

_And_he_might_have_added_that even then the regulations were difficulty of establishing a child's largely a dead letter owing to the real age. Under the 1833 Factory Act four inspectors had been appointed. It was their duty to see that no child under nine was employed in a factory and that none between the ages of nine and 13 worked more than eight hours in the 24. · But some parents did not know. and others pretended not to know, just how old their children were. The evidence they offered, often in dirty scraps of paper, was of doubtful value and frequently

One inspector, who took his job seriously, had eventually to insist on a doctor's certificate that the child had the "ordinary strength and appearance of a child of nine." Even this makeshift was un-

And parents sometimes sent an older child to the doctor and the certificate afterwards, to the factory with a younger one.

So, though it took a decade after its passing to be of use to them in their unequal struggle against their hunger-ridden parents and the callous and often brutal millowners, the Births and Deaths Registration Act must be reckoned in a very real sense among the reforms that have helped to cmancipate British children from tory seridom.

It passed through Parliament without much opposition. In this it was luckier than the Act to establish machinery for taking a census of the population.

That measure had to be dropped when it was first proposed in 1753 for fear the wrath of God would descend "in some great public misfortune or epidemical distemper."

Not until the beginning of the 19th century did Parliament decide to risk it.

The Census Returns and the Registrar-General's Statistical Raviow are a mine of fascinating information. The apparently dry tables and figures there set forch speak of changes and tendencies of the utmost human interess.

Seventy to eighty years ago the population in the leading countries. of the world was advancing -rapidly.-So-rapidly, in fact, that it was confidently expected to double itself in about sixty years... There was then a very real fear that the earth would at no distant date become overcrowded.

This was a great weapon in the hands of reactionaries. They saw, or professed to see, in the rigours of the industrial system the hand of Providence and God's Good Purpose in a high death rate among the poor.

By The Showman.

HE Dear Fellow, who keeps me so well informed about - Society, recently drew attention to a considerate London hostess. It is her custom, when asking impoverished young men down to the country for a week-end, to send them not only a first-class return ticket but a pound note for tipping her own scrvants.

It was a very good racket for the impoverished young men, but I think we ought to let the Dear Fellow know that it has been stopped.

Butler Stops Racket

LAST week-end this hostess' butler approached Mr. Derek Marmalade, commonly known as the Rudest Rat of Mayfair, and said-"It's not good enough, sir."

"What isn't good enough?" "A shilling for me, sixpence for Albert, threepence for the chauseur and threepence for the housemaid out of the pound you were sent."

"Oh, isn't it?" "No, sir. Especially as you usually pinch a dozen of the master's cigars, fifty eigarctics, and a bottle of gin every time you come." "Hand over the eighteen shillings and you can keep the goods!" "So you think you've got me where you want me, huh?

"Yealt!" "Oh, yeah?" And yeah it was. Aren't you thrilled. Dear Fellow, that this blow has been struck for traditional British hospitality? I suggest we both go out and have our ties pressed to celebrate it.

Doris Speaks Her Mind

SOME fellows seem to think they've only got to look at a girl, and she'll go down on her knees and thank them. There was I sitting on the front-in between showers-with a nice book, and one of those smartigs had to sit down next to me. "Haven't we niet before, somewhere, sometime? " he says. "I don't think so," I said, polite, but -you know. "Oh, come!" he says, very rogulah.

"Be kind, sweet lady! You wouldn't make me look a fool, would you?" "I couldn't," I said. "It's the work of nature."

How's that for a nice, quiet one?

It wels a triumph for Señor Juan de la Cierva, the autogyro inventor, and his latest model." Mr. H. A. Marsh's demonstration of the new direct take-off machine astonished a large gathering of representatives of the aviation industry and foreign Governments. This success for Senor de la Cierva-who was there-is the culmination of 15 years' constant work. The Einstein of aviation, he has achieved what experts have talked about but considered impossible.

Two machines were demonstrated. One is a two-scater priced ist about $1,000, and the other a single-seat "baby" autogyro, built by G. J. Weir, Ltd., of Glasgow, fitted with a 50 h.p. engine, to sell at about £500,

These new types have only two rotor blades instead of four in the case of the early machines and three in the last model.

Killed 250 Malaga Disintegrates Fleet

ANXIOUS MANY INSURGENTS OVER

Paris, Sept. 18.

Mutiny is reported to have broken out in the Spanish Government's fleet assembled at Malaga, according to a broadcast from the insurgent-controlled radio station at Teneriffe.

This station asserts that, following a difference of political opinion, the warships from Malaga met at sea to consider the situation. It was decided that they had been deceived by the Madrid Government.

Some of the crews decided not to continue fighting and to surrender to the insurgent Junta unconditionally. Others refused to agree to this step.

As a result of the disagreement shooting broke out and resulted in 250 deaths.—Reuter.

SENSATION-MAKERS

In April, 1932, Sternberg and Marlene Dictrich caused a sensation at Hollywood by refusing to proceed with the production of "The Blonde Venus" on the ground that the part allotted to the actress was inartistic. After much excited talk of litigation a compromise was reached and the film appeared.

"Don't take any notice of the things, you've read in newspapers," von Sternberg said, when I asked him. about the incident.

Josef von Sternberg was born in Vienna in 1894. Taken to New York 🕖 in childhood he was sent back to Europe for education. On returning to America he obtained a job-us errand boy to a moving picture company, but was soon transferred to the technical side and made rapid progress. After the war, however, came a period of ill-luck. At Hollywood, von Sternberg, nearly penniless, met George K. Arthur, a British comedian who was almost in the same financial plight, On borrowed capital they made the picture "The Salvation Hunters," von Sternberg directing and Arthur playing the leading role. Firm after firm rejected the film, but when Charlie Chaplin saw it at a private show, he declared it to be the work of a genius. Douglas, Fairbanks and Mary Pickford expressed the same opinion. Taken up by the Allied Artists' organisation, it proved a murked

Mary Pickford then engaged von Sternberg as director for her. The many pictures for which he has been responsible include "The Exquality Sinner," "Underworld," "The Last Command," The Case df Lenn Smith," "The Blue Angel." "Storighter. Express, The Blonde Vedus and "Crime and Punishment"

Good Cooking

By Ambrose Heath

Cucumbers

The Edo not eat engumbers much save in a salad or as an accompaniment to salmon and so on. And very often we find them indigestible. You will find that they are far more digestible, when eaten raw, if the cucumber, after being peeled and sliced in the usual way, is sprinkled generously with salt and left thus for an hour before you want to use it.

If you then pour away all; the liquid that has exuded from the cucum-ber, and even squeeze as much out of the slices in a cloth, you will find it quite digestible when dressed with salt, pepper and vinegar and garnished with chopped parsies.

But if you want to cat your cucumbers hot then first of all you must cut them in pieces about an inch and a half thick, cut these slices again into four, this time downwards, peel them, discard the seedy parts and fashion each piece into the size and shape of a large olive, throwing them as they are done into cold water.

Then throw them into salted boiling water and cook for 20 to 30 minutes from the time the water comes to the boil again. Symbol: A child weeping.

Drain them well and serve them in a cream sauce, or a cheese sauce, or a Poulette sauce, or even in a rich brown gravy flavoured with

Cold and Stuffed

TF you want cold stuffed Leucumber then you simply cut them into slices two or three inches wide. Scoop out most of the seedy part, leaving a little to prevent the stuffing from falling through and cook these pieces for ten minutes only in boiling salted

Then drain them and wipe them dry and let them lie for half an hour in a marinade of lemon juice with a drop of vinegar and a few thin onion rings.

Fill them either with a vegetable salad (salade Russe), hard-boiled eggs, sardines, smoked herrings, tunny fish and so on, binding where liked with mayonnaise.

U.S. Defence

San Francisco, Aug. 20. The Pacific Coast defence soon is to be augmented by the installation of four new 16-inch guns, according to announcement of Major General George Simonds, new commander of the 9th Corps area.

Installation of the massive pieces of ordnance will give San Francisco the ultimate in protection from invasion by foreign fleet.

MISSIONARIES' TENT POLES MISTAKEN FOR GUNS

Death

By HUGH REDWOOD with the rules of the Cathelic Church NEWS reached me yesterday that one of the most dangerous missionary adventures ever undertaken is nearing a successful conclusion. It is a story with four heroines, three Englishwomen and a young Tibetan girl to whom London bade farewell just over a year ago, doubting greatly if they would return. Miss Mildred Cable writes me, however, to say that she and her companions, Miss Eva French Miss Francesca French and Topsy, are on the last stage of their great trek and that "it may not be so very long before we meet again," These three grey-haired veterans October last, which seemed as if it of the mission field, the Gobi Trio, as might be their last, and since then, they are known, with their devoted in a country infested by bandits and little deaf-mute protegee (v'honi they permeated by influences hostile to rescued from brigandage on a Christianity, they have had several previous expedition) have travelled narrow escapes from death.

ESCAPES FROM DEATH The full tale of their journeyings 'Those are their guns.' cannot yet be told, but so far as it is known in outline it vividly recalls the words of St. Paul: "In journeying often, in perils of robbers, in perils by the heathen, in perits in the city, in perits in the wilderness ... in weariness and painfulness, in watchings often, in himger and thirst ..." There was at least one day, in

With this realisation I would infinitely prefer to terminate our relationship at this time rather than when we were married."

The romance began in New York in the spring of 1935, when Shake-speare, requisitioned, provided two endearing nicknames—Caliban and Ariel-for the couple.

"A GIRL LIKE THAT" A bitter quarrel sent Mr. Barrymore hurrying back by aeroplane and train to Hollywood with "Ariel" in pursuit. Last month Mr. Barrymore was quoted as saying, "A man can't get along with a girl like that." His sister, Miss Ethel Barrymore, aged 57, in a national broadcast, has announced her retirement from the stage. . She said she hoped to devote herself to "helping young people get "along." Unlike her brothers Lionel and John, she never cared much for acting in films.

COVERAGE: For many years the "South China Morning Post" has been regarded as the leading newspaper in Hongkong and South China. It has by far the largest circulation, penetrating to the Outports and inland centres. "The Hongkong Telegraph" enjoys a similar pre-eminence as the leading afternoon nowspaper.

THE HOME: The newspaper that pro- looks like a cross between a trench duces profitable results, to the advertiser is the mortar and an electric range, and is newspaper that is read and re-read by the family, The S. C. M. Post reaches most families with morning tea. Similarly, "The Hongkong Telegraph" is the afternoon favourito with the majority.

LOCAL PRESTIGE: The judgment of "the man on the spot" in respect to media selection is based on sound knowledge and can be followed with confidence. CINEMA NOTES

A new and truly romantle team is brought to the screen in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "San Francisco," currently playing at the King's and Alhambra Theatres, in Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald. For the first time the rugged, two-fisted, jaw-socking Gable of old and the jaw-socking Gable of old and the lovely. Miss-MacDonald with the voice that thrills, are brought together, with Spencer Tracy-sharing stellar honours, "San Francisco" has drama, love interest, comedy and spectacle. Gable has the rough and tough type of role in which his screen public likes him best. Miss MacDonald had the ideal part to give her opportunity to sing, and when I have this day started the her opportunity to sing, and when practice of an Architect, Surveyor she sings there is a reason for her singing for her songs are a part of the plot. The story, directed by W. S. Van Dyke and produced by Ber-nard Hyman and John Emerson, is the story of the Barbary Coast of thirty years ago, opening on New Year's Eve, 1900, and continuing through one of the most disastrous dramas of the century, the San Franelsco carthquake and fire. Gable has never been seen to greater advantage than in his present role in which he gives a performance that stands out for its power and sharply etched character delineation. Miss MacDonald, singing songs which range from simple ballads to glorious operatic arias, surpasses, even her superb work in "Rose Marie" and "Naughty Marietta." Perhaps the greatest surprise of the picture, however, is the strikingly different portrayal of Tracy who abandons his usual tough roles to contribute a sincere and unforgettable portrait of the priest, Father Mullin. Scoring in the supporting cast are Jack Holt Jessie Ralph, Ted Healy, Shirley Ross, Margaret Irving, Huber and twenty-four former film stars who may be discovered "Road Gang" "Road Gang," the First National production feature attraction at the Majestic Theatre to-day, is a revelation of the terrible conditions existing in a penal institution run by crooked officials for the graft they get out of it. It is said to carry all the dynamic force of Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang" and the rugged picturesqueness of "Black Fury." Donald Woods and Carlyle Moore, Jr., have the two principal convict roles. The romantic angle is furnished by Kay Linaker in the leading feminine role. Joseph King appears in the role of the big poiltled bess who frames the two boys with the aid of one of his henchmen, a part played by Henry O'Nelll. Addison Richards has the role of the cruel prison farm warden while Charles Middleton, an even more terrifying figure, is in charge of the mines where men are so badly abused they either go insane or die.

Ray Is

San Diego, Aug. 30. Professor Harry May, inventor-showman, pronounced his "death ray" a complete success as it blew up its 479th consecutive toy balloon with an impressive burst of smoke and flame.

The professor had a little trouble with his lethal beam, however, at his world premiere at the California Exposition. Spectators tittered, walked out or offered pertinent advice as it refused even to dent a balloon. but now it is working fine and he says they are as easy to hit as the big tin ducks in a shooting gallery.

The blue-eyed, sparsely thatched professor, his blonde goatee bobbing expressively over a thimble-sized brandy in an exposition cafe, explained following a performance that minor mechanical difficulties which had caused him some slight embarrassment the first night all had been ironed out successfully. ."The fuses weren't loaded," he said. "Now I've got a batch of fool-proof fuses and I can guarantee it will work every time. I probably could burn the wall right out of the building if I turned it wide open." A suspicious fire department thought so too after reading some lurid accounts of the machine, and ordered a hurried investigation into possible peril for speciators. They seemed satisfied that all would be able to escape, and permitted it to go on as

The ray machine, a fearsome affair that any Hollywood designer would have been mighty proud to father, through a "focus of magnetic power." The professor makes only modest claims for his present ray, an approximute 60 footer produced by the 12foot long gun, snying it is just a baby compared to the ones which surely will be used in war time. He seemed highly insulted at in sceptical question if it might not all be just a good trick, so that line of questioning was dropped. "It will destroy termites, burn through solid plates of steel and blow up balloons, but its a short range job. A really big one could play havoe with battleships, airplanes or barbed wire entanglements," he said.

"Will it fry eggs?" a half-awash gentleman at the next table peered around a beer mug to ask. The professor ignored the heckler, but admitted later it might not be such n' bad idea, at that .-- United that's latest in English ballroom Possibly the dance which will arouse most interest here is the new rhythm dance. It is clearly of the same family as the rhythm dances which have been the craze in Hong-kong for the past four years. There is the same accent, the transference of weight on the counter beat, the quick slip-nway step, and a hesitation open promenade. But there is also much more in the Andrew-Sykes interpretation. It is thrilling to watch their outside-of-the-partner variations which include closed reverse shuffles and cross-over feathers.

It is much more elaborate than the Hongkong rhythm dances, but also much smoother, more lilting, and is endowed with a grace which has never been noticeable in the so-called "Shanghai Rhythm".

MAKES YOUR HEAD BUZZ But their most masterful interpretations are those of the presentday waltz, the tango and the slow fox-trot. Miss Sykes has long been queen of the up-to-date slow fox-trot and her interpretation with Andrew is, an example of perfect movement, rhythm, and symmetrical alignment. Some of the variations, in which the lady "runs" round the gentleman, makes one's head buzz in bewilderment, but the case of accomplishment and the verltable poetry of movement, are among the most fascinating things imaginable.

Gripps patrons will revel in the tango of these two talented dancers so effective Rhumba, with its shuffle steps and toe-pointing movements. Hongkong is in for a treat in ballroom dancing for the next month or so. Our one regret will be that ing us at the end of that time. They are bound for Shanghai where they will have a season and at the same time re-open the successful school which Mr. Andrew started with Miss Ursula Presion some three years

"That", said Mr. J. A. Andrew, brilliant interpreter of modern ballroom dancing, who, in company with Miss Pat Sykes, former world's champion, in opening a season at the Gripps, Hongkong Hotel on Saturday night, "Is the rhythm dance, now all the craze in London. "And that," I replied, "is the 'cut rhythm', 'Shanghal Rhythm' 'American Style', call it what non like, dancing, raised to the nth degree of artistry."

WHICH is by way of telling Telegraph readers, including prospective patrons of Gripps next Saturday (and thereafter), that though they may have seen hallroom dancing of a pretty high standard in the past, they "ain't" in the words of an auonymous poet, "seen nothing

Gripps looked pretty cool yester-day morning when I popped round to see Andrew and Miss Sykes tuning up for their Big Night. But after watching them whirl round the floor in a quick Rhythm dance, then a guick-step, then a brilliant (no other word suits it) waltz, I per-

But what gracel What perfection of movements - What alignments What body sway! What contramovement! No wonder the London Daily News wrote- of Miss Sykes , is one of the prettiest teachers of dancing I have met"; and no wonder Mr. J. A. Andrew was admitted a Fellow of the Imperial So-"clety of Teachers of Dancing while in England a month or so ago.

AND WHAT A RECORD!

Miss Sykes is, of course, one of the most interesting personalities of the modern professional ballroom whom Hongkong has had the opportunity of welcoming. She has a stupendous record of achievements. Here are a few which speak sufficiently for themselves without adornment from me. In 1924, 1925, 1926, 1928, 1929 and, 1930 she and Maxwell Stewart were holders of the World's Dancing Championship—the highest honour which can fall to myone in the profession of ballroom dancing. In 1930 Nice and Lugano. In 1928 and 1931 vice. they won the British Professional Championship at Queen's Hall and Blackpool, and in 1929, they achieved "Star" new dance competition at the Albert Hall, London with their fainous "Skater's Waltz".

·Miss Sykes and Maxwell Stewart were originators of the "Sugar Step" (Blues) in 1928, and the "Kerb Step" (Fox-trot) the following year. In her spare time (!) Miss Sykes has had published a text book on ballroom dancing entitled "Modern Dancing" which has gone through many editions.

Thus for Miss Sykes' nchievements. And the reasons. Well, one is her natural ability in the art of terp-' sichore, plus her charm on the dance floor which instantly puts her in delightful fellowship with her audience.

$28,000,000 PUBLIC WORKS PLAN NEAR COMPLETION

TOTAL COST OF SHING MUN VALLEY WATER SCHEME WILL BE $13,000,000: AIRPORT COSTS $2,030,000

"Telegraph" Staff Correspondent

THE "Telegraph" understandes that there is every prospect that the Hongkong will issue a PENSION $11,000,000 Public Works Loan early next year.

Authority for the issue of this amount is already vested BILL IS in the Government under the Hongkong Dollar Loan Ordinance of 1934.

The Loan will bear interest at the rate of 31/2 per cent. The price of issue will probably be fixed at 99 per cent., the bonds ON giving a flat yield of 3 535 per cent. or, allowing for redemption over a full period of 25 years, of 3.565 per cent. The issue will probably be underwritten without expense to the Government, and it is also probable that the major portion of the amount will be taken up without recourse to public subscription. The bonds will be in bearer form and, it is most likely, in amounts of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 with interest coupons at- THE Colony's pension bill tached. No sinking fund will be established, but amortization will be provided by annual drawings of 1/25th of the amount issued. The first drawing would normally take place in 1938, when bonds to the value of 1/25th of $11,000,000 would be repaid. It is intended record. that the whole of the issue will be paid off in 25 years.

The entire amount of this Loan is required by Government to meet obligations for Loan Works nuthorised in 1934.

As part of the Government's plans for increasing the attractions of Hongkong as a tourist resort, an extensive scheme of planting flowering shrubs is to be commenced by the Botanical and Forestry Department next year. Return Of Lawn Bowlers

HOW FIRST MATCH WAS LOST FOUND GREENS DIFFICULT

The general impression gained in Hongkong that the Colony team should have won the first Interport lawn bowls match against Shanghai, and would have done but for sheer bad luck; was confirmed by A. Hydo-Lay, Hongkong's captain, when the Interporters returned here by the Chichibu Maru this morning.

"We had surprisingly bad luck in the mile interport" and Hyde-Lay, "this being generally admitted." But for this had joss we should have won the match."

Giving an example of how that fates were against them, Hyde-Lay referred to one head in which Hongkong were laying five. But a final drive by the shanghal skip not only deprived the Colony of their five, but gave Shangnal the shot.

"In the second Interport", he said "we played a tair game, but I am convinced that no Colony team, however strong, could have withstood the Shanguai rink which played with amazing accuracy.

UP TO SCRATCH

"Throughout the visit the Colony players came up to scratch in the Interport encounters, Several friendly games were played, but in some or these the Hongkong men were slightly below atandard."

"We found the greens difficult to become ascustomed to as they were very fast. Personally, however, prefer the Shanghal greens to those in Hongkong", concluded Hyde-Lay.

The players reported themselves very fit, and as having had a splendld time up north. As usual the hospitanty of their Shanghai friends was well-nigh overwhelming. Generally speaking, although they were not complaining, they felt a little less balt luck would have seen them win the first Interport.

The salient feature of the meeting was the double wins of Mr. J. A Victor's subscription pony Shanghai 4 with Mr. Dietz up in the Tsin Shan Plate and Pao Shan Plate. RECALLING A REMARKABLE MATCH IN ENGLAND

ARTICLE X.

(By R. Abbit)

It would be tedious to go solemnly through the contests between Australia and England year by year. As I was dealing with the earliest days of the same I have so far given as much detail as possible and the story has now come down to the final land-mark. Already "Test" Matches have begun and Australia has beaten England at home. We now come to the great side of 1882 which first defeated a representative English side in England in the only Test played—the game which gave birth to the phrase "The Ashes."

> The flower of English batting had only to make 85 runs to win the match. They did not do it. Grace and Hornby put up 15 for first wicket when Spotforth bowled Hornby, and Barlow was bowled first ball. Grace and Ulyett made a great stand and the score was 51 for two, but at that point Spofforth got Ulyett caught at the wicket and next over Grace was caught at mid off for 32 runs (53-4-32). Brown Bee (Mr. Dietz) nfter a ding-dong race down the straight just managed to stave off the challenge of Wentworth (Mr. S. Y. Liang) by winning the main event, Chung Shan Stakes, for the popular chairman, Mr. G. H. Potts and both jockeys rode very hard.

A compliment was paid to the handicapper when all the entries accepted the Fatshan Handlean for "C" class over a mile. Great Hall (Mr. Roza) made the running followed by Harvest View (Mr. Y. T. Fung) and these two ponies were racing neck and neck over the first half of the circuit. The first quarter of the route was covered in 29.3/5 seconds while the first half-n-mile was negotiated in one minute and two-fifths seconds. They were labouring after this and the two ponies finished almost crawling passed the post. There was a grim battle between Monoplane, Bistre and the two soldiers, but the former unswered every call of the jockey and won by n length. The running of Monoplane was certainly an eye opener to all critics and this pony should be watched when he weighs out at the Valley. Soldier of China gave a very disappointing display and this was his first appearance in the "C" class

THE T would be difficult to overestimate the importance of the Births and Deaths Registration Act. The benefits that have flown from it, especially to the workers, are great; Yes, curiously enough, references to it by historians and other writers on that period are few and hard to find.

It set up for the first time a · State Department in London, presided ofer by a Registrar-General whose duty it was to collect and keep exact records of these two major events in the lives of all cities. a That Department is now situated at Sometest House, a smokegrimed, dreary building in the Birand, not far from the island churches of St. Mary, where the parents of Charles Dickens were married, and St. Clement Dane, where Mrs. Lirriper, "very partial to evening service not too crowded," rented a pew with genteel company and her own hasgock.

The Registrar - General shares Bomerset House with the Probate of Wills Registry and the Income Tax authorities: dismal' companions enough. But the place has an interesting lilstory.

There queens once walked; Inigo Jones died; Oliver Cromwell lay-in-state; Crabbe wrote; and, later, Nelson came in his hessian pigtall.

To-day, your name, reader, is enshrined there; mine also for that matter. And one-day, inevitably, both will appear there again-for the last time.

The keeping of these records seems to us now absolutely essential to the well ordering of the community: necessary to the smooth working of much of the

MATION

One Hundred Years Ago to-day the Births and Deaths Registration Act was passed. One of its earliest benefits was to enable factory inspectors to learn the true ages of children in employment.

ever, was responsible for the introduction of the Act.

It was passed because another measure, which at long last gave Dissenters the right to solemnise marriages in their own way (a right previously enjoyed only by Quakers and Jews), left a page that required filling.

Not until after it was passed did the common people realise the protection if gave them against untimely death.

Early death then was a commonplace. Life was cheap, particularly among the children of the poor. The Act made every death a matter of public record and unexplained death the concern, possibly, of a coroner's jury.

Nor, until after it was put into operation, was it realised how useful it would be to reformers in their struggle on behalf of the factory children.

Robert Owen, father of British Socialism and a ploneer of Cooperation, speaks of children commonly employed at the age of five, sometimes at the age of three.

"It took," says Spencer Walpole, " twenty-five years to legislate to restrict a child of nine to 69 hours a week and that only in cotton

And he might have added that even then the regulations were largely a dead letter owing to the difficulty of establishing a child's

Under the 1833 Factory Act four inspectors had been appointed. It was their duty to see that no child under nine was employed in a factory and that none between the ages of nine and 13 worked more than eight hours in the 24. But some parents did not know,

'and others pretended not to know, just how old their children were. The evidence they offered, often in dirty scraps of paper, was of doubtful value and frequently forged. One inspector, who took his job seriously, had eventually to insist on a doctor's certificate that the child had the "ordinary strength and appearance of a child of nine." Even this makeshift was unsatisfactory. Doctors, dependent as they often were on the goodwill of factory owners, occasionally had curious ideas as to what constituted the "ordinary strength and appearance of a child of nine."

And parents sometimes sent an" older child to the doctor and the certificate afterwards to the factory with a younger one.

So, though it took a decade after its passing to be of use to them in their unequal struggle against their hunger-ridden parents and the callous and often brutal millowners, the Births and Deaths Registration Act must be reckoned in a very real sense among the reforms that have helped to emancipate British children from factory seridom.

It passed through Parliament without much opposition. In this it was luckler than the Act to establish machinery for taking a census of the population.

That measure had to be dropped when it was first proposed in 1753 for fear the wrath of God would descend "in some great public misfortune or epidemical distemper."

Not until the beginning of the 19th century did Parliament decide to risk it.

The Census Returns and the Registrar-General's Statistical Review are a mine of fascinating information. The apparently dry tables and figures there set forth speak of changes and tendencies of the utmost human interest. Seventy to eighty years ago the population in the leading countries of the world was advancing rapidly. So rapidly, in fact, that it was confidently expected to double itself in about sixty years. There was then a very real fear that the earth would at no distant date become overcrowded. This was a great weapon in the hands of reactionaries. They saw, or professed to see, in the rigours of the industrial system, the hand of Providence and God's Good Purpose in a high death rate among the poor.

To mitigate capitalism would. they thought, be simply asking for trouble. Even thoughtful working men were afraid.

They needn't have been. Since their time the standard of life has risen immeasurably for the masses. The workers have wrung the last thirty years and the expectation of life for everyone has extended. Yet population has not shown the vast increase early Malthusians feared. By 1951, in fact, it will have begun to drop. The population of these islands is now about 454 millions. By the end of the present century it will have gone down, they tell us, to 171 millions. And when my successor comes to write up the bicentury of the Act of 1836, in another hundred years time, it will be no more than 5 millions, unless polson gas gets us all in the meantime; and half of the people then living will be over 60:

LAST week-end this hostess' butler, approached Mr. Derek Marmalade, commonly known as the Rudest, Rat of Mayfair, and said-"It's not good enough, sir."

What isn't good enough? " "A shilling for me, sixpence for Albert, threepence for the chauseur and threepence for the housemaid out of the pound you were sent." "Oh, isn't it?"

"No, sir. Especially as you usually pluch a dozen of the master's cigars, Afty eigarctics, and a bottle of gin every time you come."
